RBT SUPERVISION CONTRACT

Required by BACB RBT Handbook · Document v1.0 · Effective May 2026

Reviewed & re-signed at minimum annually, and whenever supervision arrangements materially change

1. Purpose

This Contract documents the ongoing supervision relationship between a Registered Behavior Technician (RBT) and a Responsible Certificant (a BCBA, BCaBA, or other BACB certificant qualified to supervise RBTs) at Rise & Shine ABA. The Behavior Analyst Certification Board (BACB) requires every RBT to have a current, signed RBT Supervision Contract in place describing how supervision will be delivered. This Contract satisfies that requirement and establishes the expectations of both parties.

3. BACB Supervision Requirements (Reference)

Under the current BACB RBT Handbook, ongoing supervision must meet these minimums:

- Frequency: at least 5% of the hours an RBT spends providing behavior-analytic services per supervisory period (typically each calendar month).

- Real-time observation: at least one face-to-face, real-time observation of the RBT delivering services per supervisory period — this may be in person or via synchronous video.
- Group vs. individual: up to 50% of supervision may be delivered in a small group format (no more than 10 RBTs); the remainder must be individual.
- Documentation: supervision must be documented in a way that demonstrates the date, duration, format, content, and parties.
- Continuity: supervision is required during any month in which the RBT delivers behavior-analytic services. An RBT may not deliver services during a month in which supervision was not received.

Note: BACB rules can change. Both parties are responsible for knowing and following the supervision requirements in effect on the date services are delivered. The BACB website is the authoritative source.

4. Supervision Plan at Rise & Shine ABA

4.1 Frequency & Hours

Estimated RBT Service Hours per Month	Required Supervision Hours (5% minimum)
Planned Supervision Hours per Month	Supervisory Period (e.g., calendar month)

4.2 Format

Supervision activities will include a combination of the following:

- In-vivo observation of the RBT delivering services to a client (in-home, school, clinic, community, or telehealth)
- Synchronous video observation of the RBT delivering services, used as a substitute for in-person where appropriate
- Performance feedback based on observation, with specific praise and corrective input
- Review of session notes and client data with feedback
- Structured discussion of clinical scenarios, ethics, and skill development
- Modeling and rehearsal of intervention procedures
- Group supervision with other RBTs (limited per BACB rule above)

4.3 Schedule

Supervision will generally be scheduled as follows. Specific dates and times will be coordinated month to month and tracked in the RBT's Supervision Log.

Typical Day(s) of Week	Typical Time(s)
Primary Mode (in-person / video / mixed)	Backup Supervisor (Name)

4.4 Documentation

- Each supervision contact will be documented in the Rise & Shine HRM Supervision Log, including date, duration, format (individual/group), modality (in-person/video), and a brief content summary.
- Both the RBT and the Responsible Certificant will sign the Supervision Log entry electronically within 7 days of the contact.
- The RBT will retain a personal copy of all supervision documentation for the duration of certification, in accordance with BACB requirements.

5. Responsibilities

5.1 RBT Responsibilities

- Maintain current RBT certification, including the 40-hour training, competency assessment, criminal background check, and any annual renewal requirements.
- Practice only within the boundaries of competence and only on goals/programs prescribed by the supervising BCBA in the client's treatment plan.
- Adhere to the BACB RBT Ethics Code and the Rise & Shine ABA Employee Handbook, HIPAA & Confidentiality Agreement, and all related policies.
- Attend all scheduled supervision contacts on time and prepared. Notify the supervisor as far in advance as possible of any need to reschedule.
- Submit complete, accurate session notes within 24 hours of each session, in accordance with the Session Note & Documentation Standards Policy.
- Bring questions, concerns, ethical issues, and case challenges to supervision proactively rather than waiting for them to be discovered.
- Implement feedback and skill-building tasks assigned during supervision.
- Notify the supervisor and the Director of Operations immediately of any incident, safety concern, or possible ethics issue.
- Track personal supervision hours and confirm at the end of each month that the BACB minimum has been met.

5.2 Responsible Certificant (Supervisor) Responsibilities

- Maintain BACB certification in good standing and meet the BACB's supervisor qualifications, including completion of any required supervisor training (8-hour training and continuing education).
- Provide supervision in accordance with the BACB RBT Handbook, the BACB Ethics Code for Behavior Analysts, and this Contract.
- Conduct at least one real-time observation of the RBT per supervisory period and provide timely, behavior-specific feedback.
- Review the RBT's session notes and client data and provide written feedback at least monthly.

- Be reasonably available to the RBT between scheduled supervision contacts for urgent clinical or ethical questions.
- Document supervision in the HRM Supervision Log within 7 days of each contact and co-sign with the RBT.
- Identify any performance, ethical, or safety concerns and document a corrective plan.
- Notify the Director of Operations and the Compliance Officer of any concerns about the RBT's competence, ethics, or fitness to deliver services.
- Coordinate with a backup Responsible Certificant if planned absence will exceed two weeks.

6. Scope of RBT Practice

In accordance with the BACB RBT Handbook, the RBT:

- Practices only under the close, ongoing supervision of a Responsible Certificant.
- Does not design assessment or treatment plans, modify behavior plans, conduct functional behavior assessments, or independently determine clinical direction.
- Does not provide supervision to other RBTs or to BCBA candidates.
- Does not deliver services under independent contract or in any setting where supervision cannot be provided.
- Does not represent themselves as a behavior analyst or as qualified to perform tasks reserved for certificants.

7. Concerns, Disagreements & Reporting

If the RBT has concerns about supervision quality, frequency, or conduct of the supervisor — or if the supervisor has concerns about the RBT — the matter should be raised:

- First, between RBT and supervisor directly, in good faith.
- If unresolved, with the Director of Operations and the Compliance Officer.
- Where appropriate, with the BACB through its Code-Enforcement Procedures.

Rise & Shine ABA prohibits retaliation against any party for raising a good-faith supervision concern.

8. Termination of the Supervision Relationship

- Either the RBT or the Responsible Certificant may terminate this Supervision Contract by providing written notice to the Director of Operations.
- If a supervisor is no longer available, the Company will arrange a new Responsible Certificant within a reasonable time and a new Supervision Contract will be signed.
- The RBT may not deliver behavior-analytic services during any period in which a current supervision arrangement is not in place. Service hours delivered without a current supervisor are not eligible for billing and may jeopardize RBT certification.

- Termination of this Contract does not by itself terminate employment with Rise & Shine ABA, but inability to maintain a supervision arrangement may impact continued employment in an RBT capacity.

9. Renewal

This Contract will be reviewed and re-signed at minimum once per year and whenever any of the following changes:

- The Responsible Certificant changes.
- The RBT's average service hours per month change materially.
- The format, schedule, or location of supervision changes materially.
- BACB requirements applicable to RBT supervision change.

10. Acknowledgment & Signatures

Both parties acknowledge that they have read this Contract, understand their respective responsibilities, and agree to abide by it and by all applicable BACB requirements.
